Chapte	er 1 A framework for thinking about health system efficiency	1
,	Jonathan Cylus, Irene Papanicolas, Peter C. Smith
1.1	Why is health sector efficiency important?	1
1.2	What is inefficiency?	2
1.3	Allocative inefficiency	4
1.4	Technical inefficiency	6
1.5	An analytical framework for thinking about efficiency indicators	10
1.6	Concluding comments	18
Refe	rences	20
•	er 2 Measuring and comparing health system outputs:
_	g patient classification systems for efficiency analyses	21
	Wilm Quentin, Alexander Geissier, Reinhard Busse
2.1	Introduction: what are the benefits of classifying patients into groups?	21
2.2	DRG systems in Europe: background and definitions	23
2.3	Application of DRGs: indicators of efficiency	27
2.4	Patient classification systems for other areas of health care	35
2.5	Conclusion: advantages and limitations of patient classification systems	44
Refe	rences	48
Chapte	er 3 Using registry data to compare health care efficiency	53
	Reijo Sund and Unto Hakkinen
3.1	Introduction	53
3.2	Using registry data to define episodes of care	54
3.3	Constructing indicators based on episodes of care	56
3.4	Comparing provider performance: the need for risk adjustment	61
